

Ada Lovelace Day

Mon 7th Oct 2019 - 2pm – 4pm. B17, Chemistry building

A celebration of research and careers of women in computational sciences at the University of Nottingham. All welcome!

Louise Brown (Faculty of Engineering) “From Mechanical Engineer to Research Software Engineering Fellow – Reflections on an Unconventional Career Story”

Meghan Gray (School of Physics & Astronomy) “Untangling the cosmic web with telescopes and supercomputers”

Mercedes Torres Torres (School of Computer Science) “Postnatal Gestational Age Estimation Using Newborn Images”

Abby Miller (School of Chemistry) “Electrostatic Interactions in Many-Body Polarizable Systems”

Ivette Fuentes (School of Mathematics) “Alice Falls into a Black Hole: A Journey to Find the Connections Between Quantum Information and Relativity”

Refreshments and networking

